

Connecticut Occupational Therapy Association

Annual Meeting
Connecticut College for Women New London
Room 205 Fanning Hall

AN EDUCATIONAL ANGLE

The Connecticut Occupational Therapy Association is holding its Annual Meeting at the Connecticut College for Women, Room 206, Fanning Hall, on March 9th, 1935. There will be a morning session beginning at ten thirty o'clock, and an afternoon session beginning at one thirty o'clock.

A New Departure in the College Curriculum

"WHO is the Occupational Therapist? She is a highly trained specialist, a student of human nature, trained in the psychology of the ill--a woman possessed of infinite tact, patience, and desire for service, a teacher with broad training in many occupations, herself possessed of a good mind; with a cultural background, and above all, a person with the professional mind."

It is just such women needed in the field of Occupational Therapy and the field is large.

The Connecticut Occupational Therapy Association is prepared at this meeting to endorse the establishment of a training course for occupational therapists in the college curriculum. "Recent Methods in Teaching Occupational Therapy" as it is done at the Boston School of Occupational Therapy will illustrate of what just such a course will consist.

"Body Mechanics"

Can a person do anything well if the organic mechanism of the body is defective? Dr. Lloyd T. Brown, instructor in Orthopedics at Harvard University will give a talk during the afternoon session of the meeting on "Body Mechanics".

Educational Guidance for the Normal

The program will stress in part the point of educational guidance which will be brought out in a talk "Limitations of Personnel Work Among Students" by a university professor, and by a counselor in public high schools in a talk entitled "Pupil Adjustment and Parent Training".

and A-
Gui-
the Ab-

"Academic Instruction as a Therapeutic Procedure" will explain how carefully planned individual courses of study and University Extension Courses provide purposeful occupation and afford a practical future

tion or avocation for patients at a hospital for the treatment of nervous and mental diseases.

Practical demonstrations of procedures in a Curative Work Shop" as taught at the Philadelphia School of Occupational Therapy, and "The Making of Home Spun Products" as it is done at the Bridgeport Housing Corporation will illustrate the individualized curative methods of training the handicapped for a livelihood or a hobby, and of teaching social adaptation.

There is such a thing as occupational therapy malpractice. In urging a patient to select a therapeutic program, care must be taken to avoid dangerous methods in occupational therapy or too much occupational therapy. This point will be explained by "Dangers of Occupational Therapy in Tuberculosis" and by "Evaluating the Capacity of the Patient".

The American Occupational Therapy Association announces that the re-registration of therapists closes on March 10th, 1935. Also, that while new applications for registration are received at any time, names must be in by the above date if they are to be included in the 1935 Directory.

A plan of the Register may be obtained from the A.O.T.A., 175 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Both the delegates and those not members of the Association are requested to register at the desk on entering.

PROGRAM

MORNING SESSION

Ten Thirty o'Clock: Registration

Presiding:

Dr. C. Charles Burlingame, President

1. Address of Welcome

Dean Irene Nye
Connecticut College for Women
New London, Connecticut

2. "Academic Instruction as a Therapeutic Procedure"

Miss Louise Chambers
The Neuro-Psychiatric Institute of the Hartford Retreat
Hartford, Connecticut

3. "Pupil Adjustment and Parent Training"

Mr. Sigmund Adler, Counselor
Hartford Public High Schools
Hartford, Connecticut

4. "Limitations of Personnel Work Among Students"

Professor T. A. Langlie
Wesleyan University
Middletown, Connecticut

5. "The Making of Home Spun Products"
(with practical demonstration)

Mr. William Dan
The Bridgeport Housing Corporation
Bridgeport, Connecticut

Twelve Thirty o'Clock: Luncheon

All persons who desire to have luncheon at the college are requested to make advance reservations by communicating with Miss Ruth Stanwood, Connecticut College for Women, New London, Connecticut, not later than March 7th.

AFTERNOON SESSION

One Thirty o'Clock: Annual Business Meeting

Two o'Clock

6. "Dangers of Occupational Therapy in Tuberculosis"

Dr. Hugh Campbell, Superintendent
Uncas-on-Thames
Norwich, Connecticut

7. "Evaluating the Capacity of the Patient"

Miss Beulah Weldon Burhoe
Rehabilitation Secretary
National Tuberculosis Association
New York City

8. "Recent Methods of Teaching Occupational Therapy"

Mrs. George M. Naylor, Jr. Asst. Director
Boston School of Occupational Therapy
Boston, Massachusetts

9. "Procedures in a Curative Workshop"
(with practical demonstration)

Miss Helen Willard
Philadelphia School of Occupational Therapy
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

10. "Body Mechanics"

Dr. Lloyd I. Brown
Instructor in Orthopedics at Harvard University
President, Board of Directors, Robert
Brigham Hospital, Boston
Member, White House Conference Committee on
Body Mechanics
Boston, Massachusetts

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

President, Dr. C. Charles Burlingame
Psychiatrist-in-Chief, The Neuro-Psychiatric Institute of the Hartford Retreat
Hartford, Connecticut

Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Davenport Wallace, O.T.Reg.
888 Asylum Avenue
Hartford, Connecticut

Miss Constance Leigh
Newington Home for Crippled Children
Newington, Connecticut

Miss Kathryn Root
22 Ardsley Road
Stamford, Connecticut

ADVISORY BOARD

Miss Vesta Alexander, Hartford
Mrs. George Barker, Bridgeport
Mr. Edward P. Chester, Hartford
Mrs. Robert F. Gadd, Hartford
Dr. Cole Gibson, Meriden
Dr. Samuel C. Harvey, New Haven
Mrs. John T. Hubbard, Bridgeport
Mr. Harry Kromer, Norwich
Dr. Charles LaMoure, Mansfield Depot
Dr. R. L. Leak, Middletown
Miss Helen Means, Bridgeport
Dr. S. Harcourt Peppard, Greenwich
Dr. Paul Preu, New Haven
Dr. E. S. Rademacher, New Haven
Mr. Stetson K. Ryan, Hartford
Miss Margaret Stack, Hartford
Miss Effie Taylor, New Haven
Dr. Lloyd J. Thompson, New Haven
Mrs. Jessie K. Westbrook, Cromwell